

PRICE ONE CENT.

THE GREAT FAIR IS OVER.

PRICE ONE CENT.

EXTRA.

FACTOTUM, IO TOI.

Takes the Third Race at Elizabeth from Flag-Fall to Finish.

WAM JIM BEATS KINGSTON.

Candelabra, Shelly Tuttle and Kilkenny Also Win Their Events.

RACE TRACK, ELIZABETH, Oct. 31.—The weather was not quite so windy at Elizabeth today and the enthusiastic devotees of the "Sport of Kings" were enabled to enjoy the racing much more comfortably than yesterday.

The entries were first class, both as regards quality and quantity, and the sport was exciting in many of its events.

The track was dry and dusty.

The attendance was quite large.

The opening event was a dash of five furlongs for all ages. Roy Luchel was the only withdrawal, leaving Kingston, Wam Jim, Rival and DeFaria to face the starter. They were preferred in the order named, Kingston being the heavily backed favorite.

Wam Jim rushed to the front in his usual style and was never headed. Kingston was caught away and could never get up. DeFaria, the outsider, easily beat Rival for the place.

Wam Jim's saddle broke just before crossing the finish and he fell, but he was not injured. He was carried to the stable and put in a box.

The second race was a good betting affair. Candelabra and Shelly Tuttle were well backed and they were not disappointed.

Shelly Tuttle, an outsider, acted as pace-maker. He was followed by Candelabra, who was not far behind. Kingston was in the middle of the pack and DeFaria was in the rear.

At the turn, Candelabra broke and fell. Kingston was then the favorite and he was not disappointed. He won the race easily and was well backed.

The third race was a scramble for two-year-olds.

Drum Major, Economist and Tripoli were the favorites, but none of them was ever prominent.

Factotum, a 10 to 1 chance, won from Rival and DeFaria. He was carried to the stable and put in a box.

The fourth race was a dash of five furlongs for all ages. Kingston, Wam Jim, Rival and DeFaria were the favorites. Kingston was the favorite and he was not disappointed. He won the race easily and was well backed.

The fifth race was a dash of five furlongs for all ages. Kingston, Wam Jim, Rival and DeFaria were the favorites. Kingston was the favorite and he was not disappointed. He won the race easily and was well backed.

The sixth race was a dash of five furlongs for all ages. Kingston, Wam Jim, Rival and DeFaria were the favorites. Kingston was the favorite and he was not disappointed. He won the race easily and was well backed.

The seventh race was a dash of five furlongs for all ages. Kingston, Wam Jim, Rival and DeFaria were the favorites. Kingston was the favorite and he was not disappointed. He won the race easily and was well backed.

The eighth race was a dash of five furlongs for all ages. Kingston, Wam Jim, Rival and DeFaria were the favorites. Kingston was the favorite and he was not disappointed. He won the race easily and was well backed.

The ninth race was a dash of five furlongs for all ages. Kingston, Wam Jim, Rival and DeFaria were the favorites. Kingston was the favorite and he was not disappointed. He won the race easily and was well backed.

The tenth race was a dash of five furlongs for all ages. Kingston, Wam Jim, Rival and DeFaria were the favorites. Kingston was the favorite and he was not disappointed. He won the race easily and was well backed.

M'LEOD TELLS HIS PLANS.

How the New Eng'nd Road Is to Enter New York.

Depot to Be Near Third Avenue and 149th Street.

BOSTON, Oct. 31.—The directors of the New York and New England Railroad Company are holding an important meeting here today.

The meeting was called to order at 11:15 with President McLeod in the chair. All the New York and Philadelphia directors were present. The most important business to be brought up for consideration was the directors' plan for the completion of the extension into New York City, with regard to which so many rumors have been in circulation during the past month.

Mr. McLeod announced at the opening of the meeting that he had in fact secured an extension into New York City by way of the New York, New England and Northern Railroad, and he presented the details of the plan to the directors for their consideration.

The only question that remained for them to consider was the raising of the money necessary to complete the construction of the extension, and it is believed that the directors will authorize the raising of the money by the sale of bonds.

The directors also authorized the President to make traffic contracts with the New York, New England and Northern Railroad for the construction of a line between 141st Street and the New York State Pier and New York City, and to enter into an agreement with the Manhattan Railroad Company for an entrance into New York City by way of the New York, New England and Northern Railroad for both passengers and freight.

The Ryan & McDonald Construction Company will build the new road and the New York, New England and Northern Railroad will own and operate it. The Ryan & McDonald Construction Company will also build a depot near Third Avenue and 149th Street.

Mr. McLeod also announced that he had secured an extension into New York City by way of the New York, New England and Northern Railroad, and he presented the details of the plan to the directors for their consideration.

The only question that remained for them to consider was the raising of the money necessary to complete the construction of the extension, and it is believed that the directors will authorize the raising of the money by the sale of bonds.

The directors also authorized the President to make traffic contracts with the New York, New England and Northern Railroad for the construction of a line between 141st Street and the New York State Pier and New York City, and to enter into an agreement with the Manhattan Railroad Company for an entrance into New York City by way of the New York, New England and Northern Railroad for both passengers and freight.

The Ryan & McDonald Construction Company will build the new road and the New York, New England and Northern Railroad will own and operate it. The Ryan & McDonald Construction Company will also build a depot near Third Avenue and 149th Street.

THE BILL GOES OVER.

Efforts at Immediate Consideration Fail in the House.

Repealers Could Not Overcome Mr. Bland's Objections.

The Measure Promptly Transmitted from the Senate To-Day.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—There was no delay in transmitting the Silver Purchase Repeal bill, as passed by the Senate, back to the House for that body's concurrence in the one simple amendment.

At 12:50 to-day Secretary of the Senate Cox appeared at the main door of the House with the long-locked-for bill and amendment in his hand. Mr. Oates (Dem., Ala.) was on the floor at the time, and was interrupted by the Speaker, who said: "The gentleman from Alabama will suspend while the House receives a message from the Senate."

Instantly there was great silence throughout the chamber, and Assistant Speaker Smith's voice was perfectly audible to its full extent as he introduced the Secretary.

The formal acceptance of the bill and message followed, and then the House resumed its routine business.

The only special feature that marked the incident was the hand-clapping with which Representatives Eitch, Hendrix and Humphrey, of New York, received Secretary Cox's official announcement of repeal's success in the Upper Chamber.

Mr. Bland (Rep., Mo.) rose to oppose the bill. He said that he would not allow the unanimous consent by virtue of which alone the bill could be considered to-day.

However, Mr. Livingston, of Georgia, arose and asked unanimous consent to consider the Silver bill today and to take a vote to-morrow at 5 o'clock.

Silver men had been laboring with Mr. Bland to get his consent to this arrangement.

Mr. Bland was not persuaded, and on his objection to immediate consideration the Repeal bill went over till to-morrow.

ALL TIRED OF LIFE.

Matthew Kyle Kills Himself with a Dose of Poison.

Joseph Arnoux Shoots Himself in Central Park.

Bernhard Puts a Bullet Through His Head—Other Self-Murders.

Matthew Kyle, fifty-five years of age, of Sedgwick avenue, near High Bridge, one of the oldest and best known residents of that district, died at his home at 10:30 this morning from a dose of morphine, taken with suicidal intent.

At 12:50 to-day Secretary of the Senate Cox appeared at the main door of the House with the long-locked-for bill and amendment in his hand. Mr. Oates (Dem., Ala.) was on the floor at the time, and was interrupted by the Speaker, who said: "The gentleman from Alabama will suspend while the House receives a message from the Senate."

Instantly there was great silence throughout the chamber, and Assistant Speaker Smith's voice was perfectly audible to its full extent as he introduced the Secretary.

The formal acceptance of the bill and message followed, and then the House resumed its routine business.

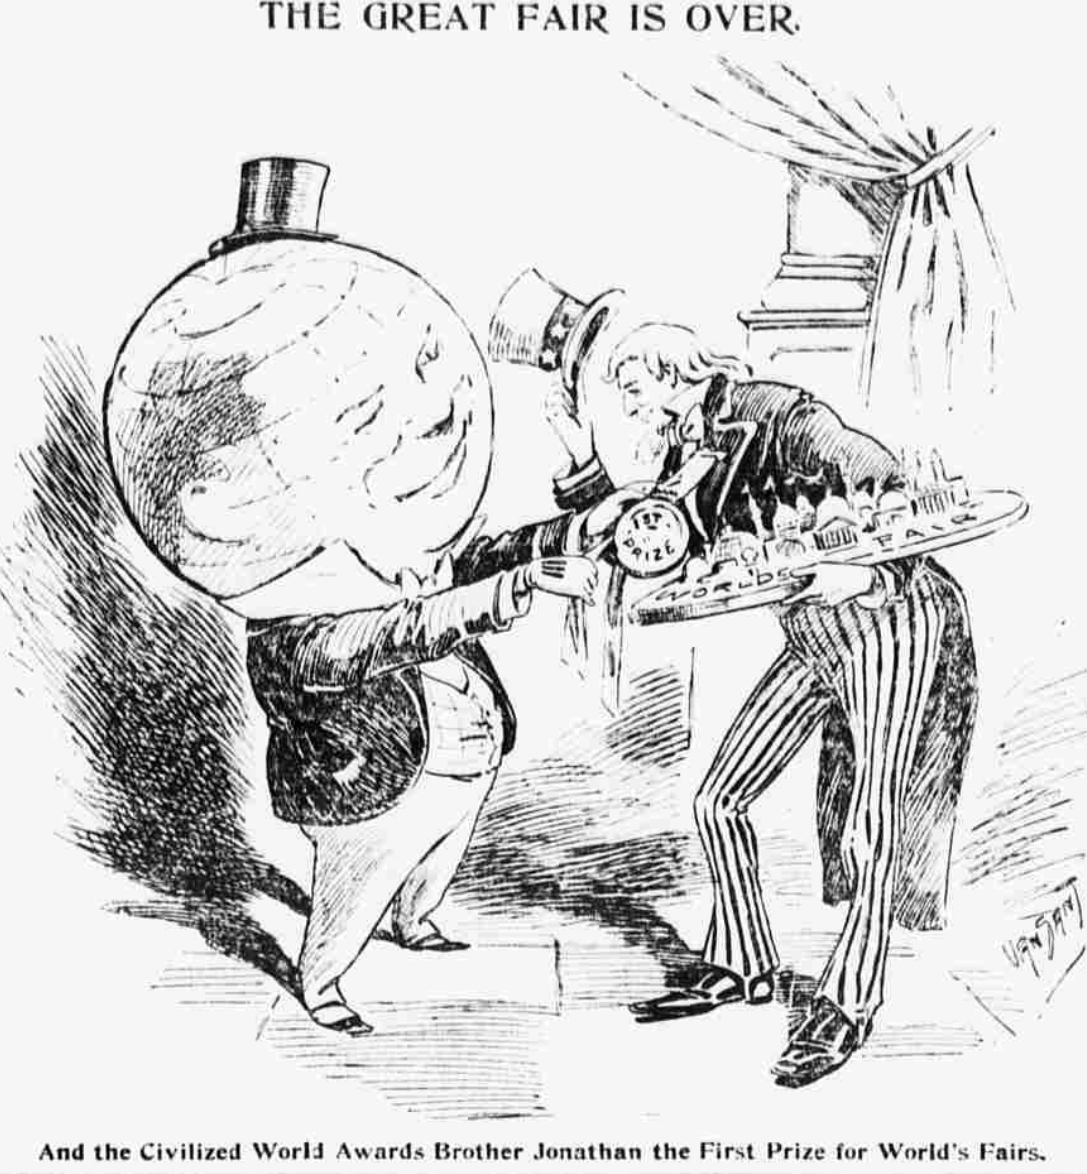

The only special feature that marked the incident was the hand-clapping with which Representatives Eitch, Hendrix and Humphrey, of New York, received Secretary Cox's official announcement of repeal's success in the Upper Chamber.

Mr. Bland (Rep., Mo.) rose to oppose the bill. He said that he would not allow the unanimous consent by virtue of which alone the bill could be considered to-day.

However, Mr. Livingston, of Georgia, arose and asked unanimous consent to consider the Silver bill today and to take a vote to-morrow at 5 o'clock.

Silver men had been laboring with Mr. Bland to get his consent to this arrangement.

Mr. Bland was not persuaded, and on his objection to immediate consideration the Repeal bill went over till to-morrow.

And the Civilized World Awards Brother Jonathan the First Prize for World's Fairs.

THE BRIDGE BILL IS PASSED.

Senate Adon's the Measure as the Committee Left It.

McPherson Falls to Keep It Back or Amend It.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—The Senate, voting down Mr. McPherson's objection, has taken up the New York and New Jersey Bridge bill.

The Committee's amendments were accepted.

Mr. McPherson (Dem., N. J.) said the amendment seemed to be to destroy the harbor of New York, and he offered an amendment providing that the approach of the bridge with two-lane, two-way traffic should be supervised and approved by the Board of Chosen Freeholders of the County of Hudson.

He was opposed by Mr. Vest, who pronounced Mr. McPherson's statement that transportation would be cheaper with one bridge than with two-lane, two-way traffic as a "ridiculous statement."

Mr. McPherson's amendment was rejected, yeas 17, nays 27.

The bill, as it came from the committee, was then passed without dissent.

MONACO WANTS THE FIGHT.

Mitchell and Corbett Might Put Up Their Fists at Monte Carlo.

LONDON, Oct. 31.—"Charlie Mitchell, who came here last night, says regarding his chances of a fight with Corbett: "It is $10,000 to a pound that they will not let me meet at Coney Island, and as far as New Orleans is concerned, I think the chances of our being allowed to fight there are very slim."

"I received a good offer from Mr. Atkinson to-day. He cables me 'Can bring off the fight in Monaco. Big purse, or during terms. Will forward matters if desired.'"

Mr. Atkinson (Scottish) has his offer was satisfactory. Monaco is off the southern coast of France, and there are more Americans there than any other nationality. Corbett might not be afraid to fight there.

"I am now in fairly good condition, and would be ready to meet Corbett in four or five weeks."

BANKRUPT BY GAMBLING.

Son of Sir Robert Peel Declared an Insolvent.

LONDON, Oct. 31.—Robert Peel, a son of Sir Robert Peel, was adjudged a bankrupt to-day with liabilities placed at $5,000 and no assets.

Mr. Peel attributed his failure to inability to raise further loans and to his inactivity in his business.

Governor of New Caledonia Wounds His Opponent in a Duel.

PARIS, Oct. 31.—A duel has been fought between Emile Laffan, Governor of New Caledonia, and Gaston Miry, owing to an article written by the latter in the Libre Parole.

Mr. Miry was severely wounded in the left side.

Smith Wanted Revenge.

John Smith, who was released from the penitentiary a few days ago, was held by the police at the Hotel de Ville, where he was held for a few days.

He was released, but he was not allowed to leave the city.

Traveller by a Car.

Traveller by a Car.

WANTED $100,000 FROM BYRNES.

Crane Kelly Calls on the Superintendent and is Locked Up.

Supt. Byrnes had a demand made upon him this afternoon by another crane, who wanted $100,000, which, he asserted, had been given to him for safe keeping several years ago. The man had never seen around the place before, but he was known through his letter-writing habits, as similar demands had been received by the Superintendent nearly a year ago.

The man, who was poorly clad, and gave every evidence of having passed several nights in cheap lodging-houses, made his appearance at the Mulberry street building soon after 1 P. M.

Detective-Sgt. Manin was at the desk in the outer office. The man said he had important business with the Superintendent, to whom alone he could communicate. There was nothing in his appearance to indicate that he was a crank, so after a little more questioning he was allowed to enter.

"I want $100,000," he said on seeing the Superintendent. "Some time ago I directed Miss Bui Li, a friend of mine, to hire you $100,000. I picked you out of a crowd of men very last of last year. I told you that I was a crane, and that I must have $100,000."

At once, I want $100,000 from you."

The Superintendent promised to honor the demand, and called in a detective, who led the man to the "execution chamber." There he said the man was a crane, and that he must have $100,000.

Retilly had a printer, forty-five years old. He refused to give his address, and he was not allowed to leave the building.

Retilly had a printer, forty-five years old. He refused to give his address, and he was not allowed to leave the building.

Retilly had a printer, forty-five years old. He refused to give his address, and he was not allowed to leave the building.

Retilly had a printer, forty-five years old. He refused to give his address, and he was not allowed to leave the building.

Retilly had a printer, forty-five years old. He refused to give his address, and he was not allowed to leave the building.

Retilly had a printer, forty-five years old. He refused to give his address, and he was not allowed to leave the building.

Retilly had a printer, forty-five years old. He refused to give his address, and he was not allowed to leave the building.

Retilly had a printer, forty-five years old. He refused to give his address, and he was not allowed to leave the building.

Retilly had a printer, forty-five years old. He refused to give his address, and he was not allowed to leave the building.

Retilly had a printer, forty-five years old. He refused to give his address, and he was not allowed to leave the building.

EXTRA.

FIERCE FIGHT WITH A CRANK.

Policeman Rose Is Badly Scratched in the Yorkville Court.

TRIED TO COLLECT $5,000.

Man with a Kink in His Brain Demands $100,000 of Inspector Byrnes.

CUBAN CONSUL IN PERIL.

Scare at Police Headquarters Over the Receipt of a Supposed Internal Machine.

Sergeant Fagan, of the East Thirty-fifth street station, was behind the desk at 11 o'clock this morning when a wild-looking man entered and in a fierce voice demanded $5,000. The man, who was fairly well dressed, kept both hands buried in his overcoat pockets, and it looked as if a revolver might be exhibited at any moment.

Seeing that he had a crank of the violent order to contend with the Sergeant, turned the matter aside by saying that he did not have quite so much money with him. He promised, however, that if the man would call again later in the day, his demand would be satisfied.

The crank left after making a threat that unless the money was forthcoming on the return of the man, he would follow him to the station and demand $5,000. There was no one in the police station save the Sergeant, and in order to save time he invited the man into the waiting-room. The two were talking "business," the officer eyeing the man suspiciously all the time.

When Patrolman John Rose returned from dinner, he found the man in the waiting-room. He was talking "business," the officer eyeing the man suspiciously all the time.

Rose realized the situation in a moment, and he was not slow to act. He seized the man by the collar and the man, who was overjoyed at the prospect of getting the money so easily, followed the officer to the waiting-room. He was talking "business," the officer eyeing the man suspiciously all the time.

After a few moments Patrolman Rose followed the man into the waiting-room. He was talking "business," the officer eyeing the man suspiciously all the time.

He refused to enter the building and the man, who was overjoyed at the prospect of getting the money so easily, followed the officer to the waiting-room. He was talking "business," the officer eyeing the man suspiciously all the time.

After a few moments Patrolman Rose followed the man into the waiting-room. He was talking "business," the officer eyeing the man suspiciously all the time.

He refused to enter the building and the man, who was overjoyed at the prospect of getting the money so easily, followed the officer to the waiting-room. He was talking "business," the officer eyeing the man suspiciously all the time.

After a few moments Patrolman Rose followed the man into the waiting-room. He was talking "business," the officer eyeing the man suspiciously all the time.

He refused to enter the building and the man, who was overjoyed at the prospect of getting the money so easily, followed the officer to the waiting-room. He was talking "business," the officer eyeing the man suspiciously all the time.

After a few moments Patrolman Rose followed the man into the waiting-room. He was talking "business," the officer eyeing the man suspiciously all the time.

He refused to enter the building and the man, who was overjoyed at the prospect of getting the money so easily, followed the officer to the waiting-room. He was talking "business," the officer eyeing the man suspiciously all the time.

After a few moments Patrolman Rose followed the man into the waiting-room. He was talking "business," the officer eyeing the man suspiciously all the time.

He refused to enter the building and the man, who was overjoyed at the prospect of getting the money so easily, followed the officer to the waiting-room. He was talking "business," the officer eyeing the man suspiciously all the time.

After a few moments Patrolman Rose followed the man into the waiting-room. He was talking "business," the officer eyeing the man suspiciously all the time.

He refused to enter the building and the man, who was overjoyed at the prospect of getting the money so easily, followed the officer to the waiting-room. He was talking "business," the officer eyeing the man suspiciously all the time.

After a few moments Patrolman Rose followed the man into the waiting-room. He was talking "business," the officer eyeing the man suspiciously all the time.

He refused to enter the building and the man, who was overjoyed at the prospect of getting the money so easily, followed the officer to the waiting-room. He was talking "business," the officer eyeing the man suspiciously all the time.

After a few moments Patrolman Rose followed the man into the waiting-room. He was talking "business," the officer eyeing the man suspiciously all the time.

He refused to enter the building and the man, who was overjoyed at the prospect of getting the money so easily, followed the officer to the waiting-room. He was talking "business," the officer eyeing the man suspiciously all the time.